California.

Horace Greeley thinks that California will ultimately distinguish herself in the fruit line; and she will be great in wine, though the universal philosopher is not so credulous of a vinous inundation as some people are. He says: Peach trees, only six years set, which have rne four large burdens of fruit while growing luxuriantly each year, are quite common. Apple trees but three years set, yet showing at least a bushel of large fair fruit, are abundant. I have seen peach trees four or live years from the States have all the fruit they can stagger under, yet have grown three feet of new wood over this load during the current season. Dwarf pears, just stuck into the black loam, and newise fertilized or cultivated, covered with fruit the year after they were sat out, and thenceforward bearing larger and larger yields with each succeeding summer, are seen in almost every telerable fruit patch. I cannot discover an instance in which any fruit tree having borne largely one year, consults its dignity or its ease by standing still or growing wood only the next year, as is common our way. I have seen green-gages and other plum trees so thickly set with fruit, that I am sure the plums would far outweigh the the trees, leaves and all; and not one borer, carculio, tive brood.

American Horses in England. The news which comes to us by the late rivals in relation to the American horses in England is somewhat checkered and is about balanced with degrees of good and ill. "Starke," the American winner of the Goodwood takes, the Beatinek Testimenial and Warwick Cup, an easy victory ever "Litebest" at even weighte, has just run for a Royal Plate at Newmarket, in a race of two miles and a half, and to everybody's astonishment has been beaten. His failure, however, is attributed by our keen sighted correspondent, Center, to want of condition, a cause sufficient to the mind of every turfman, and adequate to protect him from disparagement as to the morite that have been claimed for him. He, however, ran second to the winner, leaving the rest of the the men in the larger yard were employed in field a long way behind, and thus proving the control of the horse which did beat him was a good one conveyed to one of the other mills to go and also in good trim. But the great item of our turf intelligence is the fact that the American colt "Umpire," who is entered among two hundred and twesty British two-year olds, to run for the next.

Spring Perby, stands at the head of the builliant list, not only as first favorite, but as low down as only seven to one against him in the odds! This is at the rate of over thirty to one in his favor against each competitor, and we can estimate the compilment it involves, by recalling to mind the fact that "Blink Bonny," the colebrated mare of 1857, who was the phenomenon of her year, never got below eleven to one. - Wilkes' Spirit.

AMUSING PHASE OF THE HARPER'S FERRY WAR .- A Richmond correspondent of the Petersburg Express says:

A JAVAN CRIMINAL.—A Javan criminal was condemned by the Saltan to light a large royal tiger, whose ferocity was raised to the highest point by want of food and artificial irritation. The only weapon allowed to the human combatant was a dagger with the point broken off. After wrappin a cloth round his left fist and arm, the man entered the arena with an air of undaunted coolness, and fixed a steady, menacing gaze upon the brute. Tho tiger sprang furiously upon his intended vic-tim, who, with extraordinary boldness and rapidity, thrust his left fist into the gaping jaws, and at the same moment, with his keen, though pointless dagger, ripped up the beast to the very heart. In less than a minute the tiger lay dead at his conqueror's feet. The criminal was not only forgiven, but ennobled

From Washington.

Governor Wise, in his Richmond speech, says that he has a bushel of Captain Brown's correspondence, but not all of it. A carpetbog full was taken to Ealtimore and improperly WASHINGTON, October 22. used. The letters in his possession proved that prominent men at the North were implicated in the affair. Whether our sister States in the North will allow such men to remain among them unrebuked or unpunished, renins to be seen. the United States.

He was ready to weep when he heard that caterpillar, apple-worm, or other nuisance of that large and undelightful family, appears to be known in all this region. Under a hunthe outlaws comprised only twelve men, and that they had taken the town in teu minutes. There was no cowardice on the part of the dred fruit trees you will not see one bulb which has prematurely fallen a victim to this destrucpeople there because their unguarded citizens were prisoners, but he told them that they had made a mistake, and if General Washington had been a prisoner, and his life imperiled by an attack, he would have risked his own and others' lives in making an attack without delay.

This Kansas Border Ruffian made a great mistake as to the disposition of the slaves to fly to his standard. The Abolitionists can not comprehend that they are hold among us by a patriarchal tenure. The Governor urged the importance of organizing a military force throughout the State, and exercising vigilance to guard against the disgrace of a similar surprise.

Explosion of Powder Mills.

WILMINGTON, DEL., October 22. The explosion of Dupont's Powder Mills, on the Brandywine, yesterday, occurred while through another process. A one-horse cart stood opposite the press-room deer, parily leaded, when the press-room blew up with a loud crash. The composition house immedi-ately followed. A minute or two later the glazing-room went off, and two rolling-milis soll-wing simultaneously, being five in all. Seven men were killed and one other had his arm broken. The wind was nearly N. W., and high at the time. It deadened the seund in the immediate vicinity so much that the men in the upper yard did not cease work on the instant. Two of the men were blown into the Brandy wine, one into a tree, and the headless trunk of another blown on the opposite side of the creek. Of the others nothing could be ascertained. A strange feature of the explosion is the horse was not killed, although standing in proximity to the press-room when it went off. The eart to which he was at it went off. The care to which he was attached, and which was partly loaded with powder dust, was thrown about in fragments, and the horse was entirely stripped of his harness, his heir singed off, one eye put out, for pay, should be stopped, without special reference as to going to church. Affidavit was made before the Mayor on Monday, October 3, against three drivers, two of whom on the 10th were fined $25. Chief Justice Lowric paid his fine, and the other cases will be taken before the Supreme Court, new sitting here, which is desired by both parties. The stopping of the press dispatches along telegraph lines originated by a person named Taylor going around to the different offices threatening suits. The Mayor had nothing to do with it; he would take an affidavit, the same as any other mrgistrate, when made by a responsible party.

Arrest of Captain Cook.

CARLISLE, PENN., October 22. A man, supposed to be Captain Cook, of the Harper's Ferry insurrection, was arrested here at noon to-day. He answers the description, and is the same man as seen in Chambersburg talking with Mrs. Cook, yesterday. He is armed heavily. He is now having a hearing. LATER .- The man arrested on the charge of murder, as being a participant in the insur-rection at Harper's Ferry, is now supposed not be Cook, but one of his party. He is the man from whom a Sharpe's rifle was yester-day taken at Chambersburg, and who was with Mrs. Cook.

Upon arresting him, he endeavored to resist, but was overpowered. He had on his person three revolvers and two bowie-knives. He he, been committed to prison for a further hearing. The man is talter than the pub-lished description of Cook. He has the appearance of a desperate man, ready for any enterprise. He refused at his hearing to answer any questions.

Dancing.

A religious paper, speaking of dancing, says it is frivolous and corrupting. This is a com-mon error with a certain class of religionists, and shows their ignorance and folly. Nothing is frivolous which is innocent and pleasant, and adapted to promote healthy action. Persons who are capable of being corrupted by dancing will certainly find some much more effective mode to become so, if this ke denied them. Dancing, among the very young, is usually conducted under the eye of discreet seniors; and well educated adults need no supervision in dancing but that of common sense and their own self-respect. But, suppose dancing could in any case be perverted, so may anything else be. If we are to do anything till it is impossible to err in doing it, what will there be for any one to do. As to dancing, we shall speak from some ob servation and practice, and sum up the judg-ment formed of it thus: Dancing satisfies the demand of nature for action. It is action for both mind and body. It is action which begins, goes on and ends with the attainment of an object. It brings the human figure into its proper position, and develops the power and use of the muscles. It is a social and not a solitary pleasure. It is an innocent and refining pleasure, because it brings both sexes to be acquainted with each other, and improves the manners of both. It is accompanied by music, which is one of the most elevating and grateful pleasures known to man. Dancing is a dictate of nature. It has been made solemn by savage warriors; a mode of exalted worship among the pious; one manner of showing social gratification among dignitaries. It has found its proper place at last, in being a social, rational, clegant amusement, which delights those who engage in it, and those who are spectators.
